<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name: Ethnic NewsWatch</th>
<th>Interests: minorities, religion, culture, civil rights, activism</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Age: 1959-present</td>
<td>You’d be surprised to know: I include a publication called The Chickaloon News</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ethnicity: African, African American, Arab, Asian, Caribbean, Eastern European, Hispanic, Indigenous, Jewish, Middle Eastern, and Pacific Islander</td>
<td>My ideal dinner guest: Someone who can teach me new recipes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Physical description: newspapers, magazines, and journals</td>
<td>In search of: toe-tapping music, hot dance moves, spicy food, and new friends</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Included are journals, magazines, and newspapers from ethnic and minority presses. The current collection, Ethnic NewsWatch™, covers 1990-present, and the historical collection, Ethnic NewsWatch: A History™, spans 1959-1989. Ethnicities include: African American/Caribbean/African; Arab/Middle Eastern; Asian/Pacific Islander; European/Eastern European; Hispanic; Jewish; Native People.

You have access to:

- Ethnic NewsWatch
- Ethnic NewsWatch: A History
- Ethnic NewsWatch: A History

- More information
- View title list
Bringing Buddhism down under

Abstract

Kirti Tsenshab Rinpoche, a renowned Gelugpa lineage holder and meditation master, traveled from his residence in Dharamsala, India, to Australia and later New Zealand, to tour FPMT centers for over three months. One of Lama Zopa Rinpoche’s own gurus, Kirti Tsenshab Rinpoche is a close disciple of His Holiness the Dalai Lama.

His first teachings of the tour were offered at Hayagriva Buddhist Centre in Western Australia, and in the words of director Owen Cole, “there’s nothing quite like a visit by a living master to inspire everyone.” He went on to say, “We designed the program so students of Hospice of Mother Tara (two hours south of Perth) could come up for the weekend for teachings on the Two Truths and a Vajrasattva initiation.” Rinpoche also gave a discourse called ‘From Wisdom to Compassion’ before continuing his Australian tour.

Full Text

KIRTI TSENSHAB RINPOCHE

Kirti Tsenshab Rinpoche, a renowned Gelugpa lineage holder and meditation master, traveled from his residence in Dharamsala, India, to Australia and later New Zealand, to tour FPMT centers for over three months. One of Lama Zopa Rinpoche’s own gurus, Kirti Tsenshab Rinpoche is a close disciple of His Holiness the Dalai Lama.

His first teachings of the tour were offered at Hayagriva Buddhist Centre in Western Australia, and in the words of director Owen Cole, “there’s nothing quite like a visit by a living master to inspire everyone.” He went on to say, “We designed the program so students of Hospice of Mother Tara (two hours south of Perth) could come up for the weekend for teachings on the Two Truths and a Vajrasattva initiation.” Rinpoche also gave a discourse called ‘From Wisdom to Compassion’ before continuing his Australian tour.

Rinpoche began his visit to his second tour destination, Bendigo in Victoria, site of Atisha Centre and the Tushita Retreat Centre, Universal Compassion, with a prayer ceremony at the stupa, attended by more than 90 people. The great lineage master stressed the value of constructing stupas.

Ian Green, co-director of the center, said “around 140 people in Bendigo attended a lecture by Rinpoche on the topic of ‘Death and Dying in the Tibetan Tradition’ and, judging by their questions, the audience was greatly interested in the topic.”
Presented at LOEX 2017

MAPS, CHARTS & IMAGES