

 What challenges do you see for book displays featuring themes of diversity, equity, and inclusivity at your library?

Open text poll  23 responses  21 participants

-  Anonymous
We are being censored in regards to DEI so there's some hesitation.
-  Anonymous
having time to construct interactive elements
-  Anonymous
Individuals who feel "threatened" by a controversial display
-  Anonymous
Bigoted librarians
-  Anonymous
Coordination on who is doing what.
-  Anonymous
Receiving approval, patron interest, including works that's not "basic"/already well known
-  Anonymous
Legislation Bans - though at this point they haven't challenged our displays
-  Anonymous
low circulation and finding books that are current and relevant
-  Anonymous
No support for the person doing ALL the work included in creating a display.....
-  Anonymous
How to do a DEI assessment of the collection?
-  Anonymous
Some DEI topics being too "political"
-  Anonymous
Updating displays frequently / consistently adding new books and weeding out older ones
-  Anonymous
Buy in/engagement from student groups
-  Anonymous
Push back from alums/donors who don't see the value in DEI work
-  Anonymous
More conservative individuals (administration, etc) who dislike representation within the institution
-  Anonymous
Lack of a proper designated space
-  Anonymous
Conflicts/war/different political views
-  Anonymous
Students seem to ignore our book displays 😊
-  Anonymous
Getting stuck with same monthly themes each year
-  Anonymous
Finding the time to meaningfully put together and maintain